From the creators of the #1 podcast Limetown, an explosive prequel about a teenager who learns of a mysterious research facility where over three hundred people have disappearedâ€”including her uncleâ€”with clues that become the key to discovering the secrets of this strange town.

On a seemingly ordinary day, seventeen-year-old Lia Haddock hears news that will change her life forever: three hundred men, women, and children living at a research facility in Limetown, Tennessee, have disappeared without a trace. Among the missing is Emile Haddock, Liaâ€™s uncle.

What happened to the people of Limetown? Itâ€™s all anyone can talk about. Except Liaâ€™s parents, who refuse to discuss what might have happened there. They refuse, even, to discuss anything to do with Emile.

As a student journalist, Lia begins an investigation that will take her far from her home, discovering clues about Emileâ€™s past that lead to a shocking secretâ€”one with unimaginable implications not only for the people of Limetown, but for Lia and her family. The only problem isâ€”sheâ€™s not the only one looking for answers.

Zack Akers and Skip Bronkie are first-rate storytellers, in every medium. Critics called their podcast Limetown â€œcreepy and otherworldlyâ€• (The New York Times) and â€œendlessly funâ€• (Vox), and their novel goes back to where it all began. Working with Cote Smith, a PEN/Robert W. Bingham Prize Finalist, theyâ€™ve crafted an exhilarating mystery that asks big questions about what we owe to our families and what we owe to ourselves, about loss, discovery, and growth. Threaded throughout is Emileâ€™s storyâ€”told in these pages for the first time ever.
